LI SEES CLEVELAND

The Old Chinese Viceroy Presented to the President.

RECEPTION AT MR. WHITNEY'S HOME

Secretary Carlisle and Attorney-General Harmon Present—Li Hong Chang To Be Dined To-night by Americans Formerly Residing in China.

New York, Aug. 29.—Li Hong Chang retired early last evening, as is his custom. Consequently he was up and astir early this morning. He breakfasted with several of his ministers, and at 9:30 Gen. Ruger called to escort him to the residence of ex-Secretary Whitney, where President Cleveland was waiting to receive him. It was 10:30 when Li entered a carriage with Gen. Ruger, Lord Li and Assistant Secretary of State Rockhill. Other carriages were provided for his suite, and accompanied by the Sixth cavalry the start for Mr. Whitney's residence was made. A vast crowd had congregated in front of the Whitney residence and it was with great difficulty that the police cleared a passage for the viceroy and others to enter. After the reception by President Cleveland, Secretary Carlisle and Attorney-General Harmon were presented to the aged Chinese statesman. At 6 o'clock this evening he will be banqueted at the Waldorf by American former residents in China, including American ex-ministers to that country.

LI HUNG'S RECEPTION.

Li Hong Chang has a remarkable faculty for remembering faces. He also has a remarkable habit of asking pertinent questions. Among the party who went down the bay to meet him yesterday was Gen. Joseph H. Wilson. It was many years since the two men had met. "Your moustache was black when I saw you last," said Li, "and now it is gray. How is that?" "That was a good many years ago," said the general. "Ah! so it was," said Li, and then followed his usual questions: "How old are you?" "Where do you live?" "What's your income?" etc. The viceroy asked for John W. Foster, and when told he was not aboard he asked for John Russell Young, who, he was told would meet him in Philadelphia. This seemed to please him. Mr. Rockhill of the state department, who speaks the Chinese language, had a long friendly talk with the viceroy and it so pleased him that he insisted upon Mr. Rockhill occupying a seat in his carriage on the way to the Waldorf. Li was much absorbed in his conversation with Mr. Rockhill.

Would Not Submit to Interruption.

Gen. Wilson sat next to them on the sofa and was talking to the interpreter. This seemed to annoy Li, and he rapped the general on the knee as an indication that he did not care to have him disturb his conversation with Mr. Rockhill. Col. John J. McCook, brother of Gen. McCook, was among the party presented to the great Chinaman. Col. McCook had met Li only once in Moscow, but the Oriental statesman remembered him and greeted him with: "My Moscow friend."

Asked About the President.

When Gen. Ruger, with the gold lace on his uniform glittering, boarded the St. Louis from the Dolphin's launch at Quarantine, Li was in the smoking room. When Gen. Ruger and his aides were ushered into the smoking room he walked up to Li. He was presented to him by Mr. Wright, vice-president of the American Line Steamship company, who had made the trip across with him. "I am here to represent the president of the United States," said Gen. Ruger, "and I welcome you in his behalf." Whereupon, through his interpreter, Li answered that he was very thankful for his kind reception. Other men present were presented to Li. The Chinese statesman continued to receive them standing. "When will his excellency, the president, be in New York?" asked Li. "The expectation is," returned Gen. Ruger, "that he will be here to-morrow to receive you." "Where will the president reside while he is in New York?" asked Li. "He will be in New York," said Gen. Ruger, "and I will give him the particulars later in the day." This did not appear to satisfy the inquisitive old Chinaman, but he dropped the subject.

Li's Little Joke.

Li seemed anxious to know just who Gen. Ruger was. When he learned, he asked if he was a retired or active officer. When he secured his information, he said: "The retired officers, I suppose, become wealthy; the active ones become patriotic. How old are you?" he said, addressing Gen. Ruger. "About 60," replied the general, slightly blushing. "You look younger; how is that?" "Good habits and plenty of sleep," said the general. "You do not look 75 years of age." At this remark Li broke into a hearty laugh and a pleased expression crept

TURKEY MUST PAY UP

Believed That Uncle Sam Is at Last in Earnest.

OPINION AT THE NAVY DEPARTMENT

Significance Attached to the Orders Sending the Bancroft to Constantinople—Probably in Connection with the Demand for Indemnity.

Washington, Aug. 29.—It is impossible to learn at the state or navy department whether any assurances have been received from Turkey that Minister Terrell will be permitted to have the moral support of a ship flying the stars and stripes near his legation. The utmost reticence is preserved about Turkish affairs, and even in the past few days, when it was learned that Mr. Terrell's demands were not receiving satisfactory replies from the porte and he was said to have exhausted his efforts to secure redress for the Harpoot and Marash outrages, officials here have declined emphatically to answer questions about the matter. It appears, however, that the administration has contemplated for some time the dispatch of the Bancroft to Constantinople, as shown by the following letter addressed by Mavroyeni Bey, the Turkish minister, to Secretary of State Olney last January:

"Mr. Secretary of State: His excellency, Tewfik Pasha, has just informed me that the sublime porte regrets that it cannot comply with Mr. Terrell's request for permission for the Bancroft to pass through the strait, that vessel having been authorized to remain at the disposal of the United States legation at Constantinople. Your excellency knows perfectly well the earnest and sincere desire of the imperial government to do all in its power to strengthen, if possible, the ties of friendship which unite the two countries, but in this case a certain fact is involved, to wit: That only the signatory powers of the treaty of Paris enjoy the right to have vessels of war permanently at Constantinople at the orders of their respective embassies. Now the United States government does not appear in the number of the signatories of that treaty. I am, consequently, sure that your excellency will be pleased to take the foregoing into consideration. MAVROYENI."

Another Request Denied.

If any reply was made to this letter or if any correspondence followed or preceded it, that correspondence is not obtainable. On November 5 of last year, Admiral Seiffried being at Marseilles, France, in the flagship San Francisco on his way from Washington to the Levant, wrote Mr. Terrell as follows: "Considering it very desirable that I should confer with you relating to disturbances in the east, I have the honor to request that you will procure a human from the porte for me to visit Constantinople in the Maribhead, the smallest vessel of our squadron. The Maribhead has a displacement of 2,000 tons." Mr. Terrell immediately saw the sultan and made the application which the minister reported to Mr. Olney, "the very politely declined to give for the alleged reason that similar applications would then be made by the other powers which he could not possibly grant."

No Protection for Americans.

Minister Terrell, writing to Admiral Seiffried Nov. 20, 1895, said: "There is a feeling here of much apprehension and the news from the interior of Asia is fearful. Certainly over 20,000 men have been killed in cities and large towns away from the sea coast, while the country from the Black sea to the Caspian is believed to be desolate. The co-operative action of European powers, if agreed on, is not known here. If there should be an effort by their boats to rush by the gorges and reach this city, the interval between the effort and the arrival of the fleet here would be one of much danger to resident Christians. Other governments have dispatched boats on which their people take refuge; ours has none."

First Move To Force a Settlement.

Minister Terrell a month later was ordered to go to Smyrna to confer with the admiral. It is believed in naval circles here that the preliminary orders sending the Bancroft to Constantinople constitute the first step in the administration programme to compel Turkey to respect the permanent demand for full and immediate action for $100,000 indemnity. At least November for the delivery of the American college and property at Harpoot and a similar demand for the burning of the college at Marash. It is believed this will be enforced before the close of the year, even if it be necessary to open all the battleships and the fleet from Admiral Bancroft's orders to the purpose.

Two Mothers Drowned.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 29.—Calvin and George Diehl, brothers, aged 16 and 18 years, were drowned in the canal near Middletown yesterday. They were swimming and Calvin was seized with a cramp. George went to his assistance and both were drowned. The bodies were recovered.

TALKS TO FARMERS

Mr. Bryan Attends the Big Alliance Picnic at Knowlesville.

GREAT DAY IN HIS CAMPAIGN

Visits Niagara Falls and Makes a Speech in the Cataract House—Conveyed to the Picnic Grove in a Carriage Drawn by Four Horses.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Aug. 29.—In picturesque features William J. Bryan's day of campaigning was replete from start to finish yesterday. Leaving Buffalo early in the morning, he came to Niagara in a trolley car, viewed the falls and rapids, attended a farmers' picnic at Knowlesville, and, returning to Niagara by way of Medina late last evening, ended the day with a speech from a stand erected at the Cataract house. But while the trolley ride was unique in campaigning and the visit to the falls afforded a pleasant relaxation from the hard work he has been doing for the Chicago ticket, the great gathering of agricultural people addressed by Mr. Bryan in the recesses of a deep wood far exceeded them in dramatic and scenic effects. All day long the farmers had been assembling at Slawson's grove, a mile and a half from Knowlesville station, and when Mr. Bryan reached there he found a great gathering present. This picnic is an annual affair and is under the control of the Orleans County Farmers' alliance. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan with congressman William Sulzer, John Cuneen, secretary of the New York state democratic committee and others reached Knowlesville by train from Niagara Falls early in the afternoon. A big barouche, drawn by four gray horses, was in waiting for the candidate and his wife and in this way they were conveyed to the village, half a mile distant. A band composed of Tonawanda Indians headed the parade, and after the candidate's carriage came a big procession of country rigs, and in this way Mr. Bryan started on his journey to the grove. A halt was made near the canal bridge and Mr. and Mrs. Bryan alighted to take luncheon at the house of a local supporter. The procession rested while the candidate ate. Mr. Bryan spent little time at the table. Re-entering his carriage, leaving Mrs. Bryan to follow later, he was conveyed to the big grove. The farmers' annual picnic is always largely attended, and this year was no exception. It is estimated that at least 1,500 vehicles were there. Of the "bicycles," the same broad computation could be applied. They were everywhere. One enclosed space contained 1,000 of them, and a dozen men did a big business checking them for the riders until after the close of the day. The shell game was much in evidence, and fakers selling Bryan and McKinley badges, vendors of hot sausages, cider, peanuts and other things that come out when they can't get a regular meal, the show-men and many more enterprising people did a rushing business. Women, young and old, dressed in clean, bright prints, formed a large part of the congregation and mingled with the crowds of farmers who had come to the grove for their annual picnic and festival. It was as stated largely a gathering of farming people and its importance from a political standpoint was augmented by the fact that it was the first distinctively agricultural audience addressed by Mr. Bryan, with the possible exception of those who heard him at Madalin, on the Hudson, last Saturday, since his advent into New York state. The democratic nominee did not waste time after his arrival, but was introduced and began his speech at once. It was somewhat lengthy and dwelt principally with the silver question and farming interests.

Oil Wells in Alaska.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 29.—A. H. Eddy of Hartford, Wash., an ex-member of the state legislature, has returned from Alaska, where he reports having discovered two great petroleum wells in the mountains not far back from the coast and within about 100 miles from Juneau. He brought samples of crude oil, which he proposes to have tested. He says there is a flow of 200 or 300 barrels daily.

Warning to Striking Shipbuilders.

Glasgow, Aug. 29.—The English, Irish and Scotch shipbuilding masters have notified the executive committee of their employees that unless the striking workmen at the Govan shipyards, on the Clyde, resume work prior to Saturday, Sept. 12, twenty-five per cent of the number of their employees will be discharged on that date and a like number on each of the three succeeding Saturdays.

The Kaiser's Cup.

Berlin, Aug. 29.—Emperor William has announced his intention of presenting a cup of his own design to be contested for by British yachts of 40 tons and upward in June next upon the occasion of the celebration of the 60th anniversary of Queen Victoria's accession to the throne. The course will be from Dover to Heligoland.

RUSSIA BUYS MACHINERY.

Delaware Iron Co.'s Tube and Pipe Mill To Be Sent to That Country.

Philadelphians, Aug. 29.—The Russian government has been negotiating for some time with the Delaware Iron company of New Castle, Del., to secure a large amount of its machinery, and the bargain has been finally consummated. The contract entered into involves the delivery of all the material of the tube and pipe mill connected with the iron company's big plant. It also involves the sending to Russia of a large force of workmen, who will be engaged abroad to put the machinery together and start it in good running order. To transport the property thus purchased the British tramp steamer Henley has been chartered by Hagar & Co. of this city. Besides taking out the material furnished by the iron company, the vessel will carry additional machinery bought in this country to Mariupole on the sea of Azov. The sale by the iron company of its tube and pipe plant does not in any way affect the future conduct of its works. As soon as the cargo is shipped the Delaware Iron company will go ahead replacing all it has sold to the czar's government.

SQUAW MEN IN REVOLT.

Further Bloodshed Expected in the Seminole Reservation.

Guthrie, Okla., Aug. 29.—The squaw men in the Seminole Indian reservation are in open revolt and threaten to exterminate the full-bloods. At the last session of the Seminole council a law was passed ordering all white men who married Indian women to leave the nation. There are 800 squaw men. When a body of police Indians attempted to put the council laws into effect on Wednesday an open battle took place in which three Indians were killed. Great excitement exists and further bloodshed is looked for. Troops from the First cavalry are on their way to the scene of trouble. For several years it has been the practice of white men to go into the nation, marry an Indian woman, and thus obtain sixty acres of land. The efforts of the full-bloods and half-breed Seminoles to break up this practice causes the trouble.

HARRISON CHALLENGED.

Fillman Wants a Joint Debate with Him Before a Northern Audience.

Washington, Aug. 29.—The democratic congressional committee furnishes the United Associated Presses with the following telegram, addressed to former President Harrison: "Hon. Benjamin Harrison, New York city: I have just spent a week in Pennsylvania speaking to many thousands. Your speech in New York attacks me specifically, and I would be pleased to meet you in joint debate before a northern audience, preferably at Indianapolis. B. K. TULLMAN."

Yellowstone Park.

Washington, Aug. 29.—Capt. Anderson of the Sixth cavalry, superintendent of the Yellowstone National park, in his annual report to the secretary of the interior, recommends an annual appropriation of $100,000 until the road system of the park is completed. For the season of 1895—June to September inclusive—2,366 persons visited the park. Tables kept in regard to the geysers show little regularity in their periodical outbursts except those of "Old Faithful."

Associated Cricket Clubs.

Philadelphia, Aug. 29.—The executive committee of the Associated Cricket clubs of Philadelphia held a meeting yesterday afternoon for the purpose of considering the details in connection with the annual match between the United States and Canada, to be held here Sept. 4 and 5. It was decided to play the game on the grounds of the Germantown Cricket club.

Yacht Regina Released.

Bridgeport, Conn., Aug. 29.—The yacht Regina, owned by Dr. Willard Parker of New York, has been released by the custom officials and the fine of $150 imposed on the owner reduced to $50. The Washington officials, when they learned that Dr. Parker violated the law unintentionally, decided to let him off with a warning.

Rubber Factories Not To Resume.

Waterbury, Conn., Aug. 29.—New York officials have countermanded to Superintendent Schaeffer of the Good-year India Rubber company of Naugatuck the order issued last week to start the factories of the company in that place on Monday. No explanation of the order is made.

Savage Barbarities at Constantinople.

Berlin, Aug. 29.—The T. G. Gellert's Constantinople correspondent, in a dispatch to his paper, says many acts of savage barbarity which he witnessed during the rioting which began on Wednesday, which were similar to those he had seen during previous massacres.

A Bantam Work Reduced.

Albany, Aug. 29.—About 300 men employed by the new capital construction commission will be laid off to-day on account of a lack of funds to longer carry the heavy force of 600 and workmen.

CALLERS AT CANTON

Major McKinley Still Receiving Delegations of Visitors.

DELIVERS TWO SHORT SPEECHES

Assured of Support by a Delegation of Ministers—A Committee from the Republican League Convention Pay Their Respects to Him.

Canton, O., Aug. 29.—Major McKinley made two speeches yesterday and they were both short. His first visitors were a committee representing the executive committee of the national republican league. They came from the enthusiastic meeting at Milwaukee. They gathered in Major McKinley's library and after they had been presented to him, John Goodness of Minnesota, the spokesman, assured the major of the earnest support of every member of the league. Its active membership at this time, he said, is over 2,000,000 voters. In response Major McKinley made a neat little speech and altogether the meeting was very enjoyable. Late in the afternoon a large delegation of United Brethren clergymen, who are attending a conference here, called on Major McKinley. Bishop J. H. Mills of Oregon spoke in behalf of the ministers. He assured the republican nominee of the hearty support of the liberty-loving people of the country and predicted a grand victory for him at the polls in November. Major McKinley replied by thanking them for the compliment and courtesy of the call and the assurances of support. Several more messages of a congratulatory character concerning his letter of acceptance were received in this morning's mail.

AID FOR INSURGENTS.

Gen. Roloff Leads Three Important Filibustering Expeditions.

Kingston, Jamaica, Aug. 29.—It is announced here that Gen. Carlos Roloff has succeeded in landing an important expedition, divided into three sections, on the Cuban coast and in forwarding the men and supplies into insurgent camps. Gen. Roloff will at once proceed to New York. Several refugees who arrived here in open boats brought the news of Gen. Roloff's success.

WANTS SAID KHALID.

British Consul Demands the Surrender of the Usurper.

Zanzibar, Aug. 29.—The British consul has asked the German consul here to surrender Said Khalid, the usurper, who took refuge in the German consulate after escaping from the palace during the bombardment of that building by the British warships in the harbor.

In Behalf of Armenians.

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 29.—An enthusiastic meeting was held in behalf of the persecuted Armenians in convention hall last evening. Spencer Trask of New York city presided, and previous to introducing the speakers of the evening made a brief address, in which he took occasion to correct the impression now prevailing that Clara Barton had abandoned relief work. The truth is, he said, she has perfected the work there as far as possible and will return this fall to continue it.

Bicycle Club Incorporated.

Albany, Aug. 29.—The Quill Club Wheelmen of America, New York city, has been incorporated under the laws of the state of New York. The objects of the club, which was organized on April 14, 1895, are the promotion of social intercourse and cycling among its members, of which at present the club has about seventy-five, and they are chiefly newspaper men.

Tested Her Guns at Sea.

Sandy Hook, N. J., Aug. 29.—The United States monitor Terror, which went to sea yesterday for the purpose of testing the pneumatic appliances of her guns and carriages, has returned to her anchorage in the lower bay. She signalled when passing in that she had fired four rounds from her guns, the last one with full powder charge. The result proved to be excellent.

PATERNALISM IN BERLIN

How the Municipality Cares for the Working Classes.

Savings Bank Maintained by the City, with Scores of Branches Located in the Quarters Inhabited by the Poorer Classes.

(Special Berlin (Germany) Letter.)

The great majority of Berlin's population is formed, of course, as in other large cities of the world, by the laboring classes. Now, it is true that nine-tenths of these people are socialists, either outspokenly or by force of associations, and at the reichstag elections this fact becomes plainer year after year, for the successful candidates are invariably socialists. It is all the more to the credit of the municipal government here that nothing is left undone which by any sensible person is deemed the duty of the commonwealth towards what is, perhaps, somewhat indefinitely and erroneously styled "the masses." I do not mean to say that in this respect Berlin stands alone among German cities; quite the reverse.

Among the institutions tending to keep the toiler with small earnings from slipping and going farther down the social ladder the municipal savings banks deserve a prominent place. In Berlin there are about 468,000 depositors in these banks, with deposits ranging from a couple of marks up to thousands, the total in these banks amounting to nearly 200,000,000 marks (or about $50,000,000). The rate of interest is low, being three per cent, or less, but to make up for that these banks are absolutely safe, no matter in which of her 75 offices the savings have been paid.

In Berlin there is, besides, less red tape discernible in the management of these banks than is noticeable in other German cities, such as Dresden and Breslau. To show how popular every-etc., but on the other hand money is loaned quite readily on almost every article of household goods—provided it be not too perishable or too bulky—from a tinpan or solder to a stove, and every article, if it comes to a sale, finds its purchaser again, so that no losses are ever met with through reckless or foolish management, and both redemption or sale of the articles come easy. The public pawnshop of Berlin was established 60 years ago, and branch offices were added as the need for them arose with the growth of the city. But some of the public loan offices in other German cities are much older, such as the one in Nuremberg, dating from 1618; Augsburg, 1601; Hamburg, 1650; and those at Dresden, Munich, Breslau, Frankfurt-on-Main, and other cities are all more than 100 years old, while those of Leipzig, Cologne, Strassburg and a dozen other cities date from the beginning of this century. Generally speaking, these municipal pawnshops are conducted in such a way as to satisfy the needs of the poorer classes, and complaints as to their management or their cost have not reached the press for many years.

As to the Berlin system of poor relief, which may, indeed, be termed a model one, data were furnished in a previous article, but, properly speaking, that chapter does not belong in this place.

On the other hand, though, the system now evolving and perfecting all over Germany and, particularly in Berlin, having in view the facilitation of labor employment on both sides—employer and employee—deserves a special word of comment. As I hinted, this system is still developing and is by no means a uniform one as yet. It is, however, on the way to be so, and as it finds employment and active aid from both the central government and the municipal authorities in hundreds of German cities, it is bound to work successfully in the end, its fruits thus far being, beyond question, highly beneficial to state, community and where are these municipal savings banks, I will cite: Hamburg, with 40 branch offices in the city and about a total in deposits of 120,000,000 marks; Dresden, with nearly 200,000 depositors (comprising more than one-half of the total population) and exceeding 60,000,000 marks, Altona and Bremen, with depositors aggregating two-thirds of the entire population and deposits figuring up about 20,000,000 apiece; Leipzig, Magdeburg, Frankfurt-on-Main, Hanover, Koenigsburg, Dusseldorf, with a similar state of affairs. Aue Aachen (Aix-la-Chapelle) stands relatively foremost, for the statistics show that the number of depositors is about equal to laborer alike. It will carry me too far to explain the system, so far as the word may be used, in detail, but I will here say that it is based on an ingenious interchange of notices as to locality, number, character and pay of labor needed, this interchange of notices being carried on between all the cities and provinces within the "pool," so to speak, and being furnished free of cost to both employer and laborer or mechanic. Being still in the initiatory stage it cannot be said that this system of supplying labor where needed, of acting as a gratuitous intelligence office on a large scale, is as yet working with any degree of perfection. But its results are, even now, of vast benefit. Outside of Berlin it has been most successfully put in use throughout the industrial region of Rhenish Prussia and Westphalia, where there is always a large and diversified shifting population. In Berlin, however, the system has largely decreased the number of unemployed all through the year and will decrease it more as time goes on.

In commenting on this important branch of public aid to the laboring classes I must not forget to mention, with some laudatory remarks, the kindly efforts made by one Berlin newspaper towards the same end. This paper is the Local-Anzeiger, with a circulation of about 250,000, I believe, and whose publishers, August Scherl, and editor, Hugo von Kupffer, are infusing some American pluck and enterprise into the otherwise rather sluggish journalistic world of Berlin. With a single motive of assisting the laboring classes in their endeavor to find remunerative employment, these gentlemen issue every day the Arbeit's market, a list of openings for every kind of mechanic and artisan furnished gratis to everybody applying for it.

All this, however, is not charity, but merely intended to aid those able and willing to work to find places where they may do so at a fair rate of remuneration. Purely charitable, though only of a temporary character, are the municipal asylums for the homeless and unemployed working classes. These institutions are more numerous and better patronized, especially in winter and during times of large strikes or general industrial depression, than similar institutions in New York or Chicago and other American cities. They are also, as far as I am able to judge, better conducted.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

OVER THE SHAWANGUNKS.

WHAT OUR NEIGHBORS IN SULLIVAN COUNTY ARE DOING.

All the News from All Parts of the County—Many Matters of Interest Condensed from Our Sullivan Exchange—And Contributed by Wide Awake Correspondents.

—Rev. J. L. S. Huff, of the Missionary Branch of the A. M. E. Church, will hold a colored camp meeting in Liberty for ten days. A glad club of choir of twelve voices is expected to enliven the meetings, and the currency question will be debated by two dusky financiers.

—William A. Foster has sold his farm in North Settlement, near Monticello, to Mrs. Lillian L. Wadsworth, of Brooklyn. The farm is one of the best in the county.

—George W. Rockwell, of the Hotel Rockwell, Monticello, has received from Bachelor, the New Hampton taxidermist, a handsomely mounted black bear. The animal was shot near Black Lake, last winter.

—The State Veterinary Surgeon visited Kenoza Lake, last week, to investigate a disease that had carried off several cattle. He pronounced the disease anthrax fever, brought on by pasturing on low wet ground.

—The work of painting the O. and W.'s big bridge at Liberty Falls was finished Wednesday.

—Fred Hotchkiss picked up, Friday, on the road between Liberty and White Lake, an open envelope which contained $130. It had been lost by a lady summering in the vicinity of Liberty. Mr. Hotchkiss restored the money to her, and she went on her way without so much as saying "thank you."

—Byron Gray has sold a half interest in his grocery store and grist mill at Livingston Manor to his brother, Cyrus Gray, and they propose to enlarge the business by putting in new lines of goods.

—The county fair, which will begin at Monticello, Tuesday, Sept. 1st, bids fair to be of unusual interest. A Wild West show will be the special attraction, Thursday and Friday.

—G. Christian, who has done so much in extending the telephone system in this county, has issued a call for a meeting to be held at Liberty, Sept. 15th, to discuss the matter of road improvement, which Mr. Christian considers of vital importance if Sullivan county is to retain its popularity as a summer resort.

—Henry Scher, a peddler of notions, was arrested in Monticello, Monday, for selling goods without a license. He pleaded guilty and was released on payment of costs. The authorities are determined to enforce the ordinance against hawking and peddling on the streets.

—Andrew Dunbar, on Saturday last, sold the Ratcliff Park grounds to Charles B. Wheeler. Consideration $700. Mr. Wheeler is arranging to build a house on the premises at an early date. Mr. Geo. Roxbury will have charge of the park—Monticello Watchman.

LIBERTY'S COACHING PARADE.

Liberty's coaching parade, Thursday, was the finest ever seen in the county. Seventy-five decorated vehicles were in line and a crowd of from 8,000 to 10,000 people gathered to see the demonstration. Prizes were awarded as follows: Prettiest decorated vehicle, Liberty House, first; Victory Champlain, second; Wm. Wood, of Harleyville, third; Buckley House, honorable mention; largest and best display by anyone, Hotel Wadsworth, first; M. F. Fisk, Parkville, second; Mansion House, Liberty, third; most comical and grotesque turnout, Frank Lamoureux; prettiest decorated ladies' bicycle, Miss Anna Brown, of New York, first; Miss Florence Cavan, of New York, second; prettiest decorated man's bicycle, J. S. Oliver, of New York, first, and V. T. Sherwood, Liberty, second.

Your Boy Won't Live a Month.

So Mr. Gilman Brown, of 34 Mill St., South Gardner, Mass., was told by the doctors. His son had lung trouble, following Typhoid Malaria, and he spent three hundred and seventy-five dollars with doctors, who finally gave him up, saying: "Your boy won't live a month." He tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and a few bottles restored him to health and enabled him to go to work a perfectly well man. He says he owes his present good health to use of Dr. King's New Discovery, and knows it to be the best in the world for lung trouble. Trial Bottles Free at McMonagle & Rogers' Drug Store.

Poison ivy, insect bites, bruises, scalds, burns, are quickly cured by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the great pile cure.

Many a day's work is lost by sick headache, caused by indigestion and stomach troubles. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the most effective pill for overcoming such difficulties.

When we consider that the intestines are about five times as long as the body we can realize the intense suffering experienced when they become inflamed. DeWitt's Colic and Cholera Cure subdues inflammation at once and completely relieves the difficulty. W. D. Olney.

Pass the good word along the line. Piles can be quickly cured without an operation by simply applying DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. W. D. Olney.

For a Cabot Celebration.

Montreal, Aug. 29.—A St. Johns, N. F., dispatch says that the idea of a Cabot celebration in the county next year is taking definite shape. The British man-of-war Buzzard goes north to make a survey of Bonaville harbor, with a view of reporting on the best site for a pier and a monument to Cabot. The celebration proper, it is expected, will take place in July or August next.

Free Pills.

Send your address to H. E. Bucklen & Co., Chicago, and get a free sample box of Dr. King's New Life Pills. A trial will convince you of their merits. These pills are easy in action and are particularly effective in the cure of Constipation and Sick Headache. For Malaria and Liver troubles they have been proved invaluable. They are guaranteed to be perfectly free from every deleterious substance and to be purely vegetable. They do not weaken by their action, but by giving tone to stomach and bowels greatly invigorate the system. Regular size 25c. per box. Sold by McMonagle & Rogers, Drug Gists.

If you have ever seen a little child in the agony of summer complaint, you can realize the danger of the trouble and appreciate the value of instantaneous relief always afforded by DeWitt's Colic & Cholera Cure. For dysentery and diarrhoea it is a reliable remedy. We could not afford to recommend this as a cure unless it were a cure.

The whole system is drained and undermined by indolent ulcers and open sores. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve speedily heals them. It is the best pile cure known.

All druggists guarantee Dr. Miles' Pains Expeller Headache. "One cent a dose."

DINNER-GIVING ETIQUETTE.

Points to Be Observed by Both Hostess and Guest.

The dinner is the most important of social ceremonies. It is a function, an observance, a solemnity, the most flattering form of entertainment that can be offered to a guest; and as such it should be duly respected and appreciated. The art of giving dinners that are at once dignified, delightful and distinguished, is a rare one, yet it is possible to achieve it with a mere expenditure of time and pains so well laid out that it is a marvel that such dinners are the exception and not the rule among us. As a rule, the dinner is regarded as an affair of reciprocity, and people who do not give dinners themselves are but seldom asked to dine, except in the case of stray girls or bachelors, asked chiefly to stop a gap. Dinner-giving is about the most costly form of hospitality when it is largely indulged in, and people who cannot give dinners as they should be given had much better not attempt them at all, but confine themselves to less formal entertainments of dances, luncheons, breakfasts and ordinary "at homes." The dinner is the one social function in which the host plays as important a part as the hostess. His name appears with hers on the invitations, and he dispenses hospitality in the same active measure as herself. But though modern custom has robbed his post of much of its ancient glory in the way of carving heavy dishes and passing wine, he is still the holder of the foot of the table with all the dignity which that position entails.

The length of a dinner invitation varies with the size and importance of the dinner. For a large and ceremonious one two weeks' notice is required, and this notice is sometimes extended to double that time. For small and informal dinners, from five to ten days' notice is sufficient. Printed cards may be used, on which blanks are left for the names of the host, hostess and guests; data, address and hour. These cards are, as a rule, only used when the dinner is one of ceremony. Invitations to small dinners are generally written, and vary in friendliness with the informality of the entertainment. They are written in the third person, if it is a friendly and impromptu matter. In any case, whether the invitation be friendly or formal, it should be answered within 24 hours after it has been received. Dinner-giving is unlike any other species of entertainment in that it is all-important to have a certain number of guests to count upon and to select them with discretion. It is necessary to allow a hostess ample time to invite other guests to fill the places of any who may disappoint her. An invitation to dinner, it has been said, is issued in the joint names of host and hostess, though, of course, the hostess writes the note, if a note conveys it. The answer must be addressed to her, though the host's name is mentioned in accepting or regretting. The invitation may be sent and answered either by post or by the hand of a servant.

Some people are perpetually invited out to dine, not because they give many dinners in return, but because they are recognized as good dinner guests. They are generally provided with plenty of light small talk and the gossip of the day; are pleasant, popular and gifted with that tact which is one of the rarest, as it is one of the most valuable, of possession. There are others who must be asked as a duty, on account of the dinners they themselves give, and who vex the righteous soul of a hostess so often as she has to include their names among the list of her guests. She knows very well that their mere presence will call for a mighty effort to keep the whole dinner from being "a frost," and that they will probably outweigh all her efforts.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

SUPREME Court, county of Orange—William P. VanGorden, plaintiff, against Charles S. Carter and Lulu J. Carter, his wife, defendants. In pursuance of an order of the court, and decree of foreclosure and sale, rendered in the above entitled action, at a Special Term of the Supreme Court, held at the chambers of the Justice, in the city of Newburgh, Orange county, N. Y., on the twenty-second day of August, 1893, Hon. William D. Dickey, Justice, and duly entered in the Orange County Clerk's office, I, the undersigned, Robert W. Deane, County Clerk, N. Y., on the 15th day of September, 1893, at two o'clock in the afternoon of the day, all the right, title and interest of the defendants above named, in and to all and singular the lands and premises in said judgment, described as follows:

Being all that certain lot, piece or parcel of land situate, lying and being on the northerly side of Genesee street, in the city of Middletown, county of Orange, and State of New York, and known, designated and laid out as lot No. one on a map of the property of W. W. Hartford, dated December 3d, 1893, made by Charles H. Smith, C. E., and filed in the County Clerk's office September 21st, 1893, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point in the said side of Genesee street one hundred and eighty-four feet northwesterly from the north corner of the lands formerly belonging to Dill and Robertson, thence north along the said side of Genesee street, to the southeast corner of said lot No. two, one hundred and thirty feet and thirty minutes west along the west side of said lot No. two, one hundred and thirty feet and thirty minutes to said line of Genesee street, thence north along the said side of Genesee street, to the place of beginning, containing more or less.

Together with all the first parties, right, title and interest therein, to all the lands lying in front of said lot to the center line of Genesee street, subject, however, to the rights of the public therein for all street and other purposes.

Witness my hand and seal of my office, as County Clerk, at Newburgh, New York, this 15th day of September, 1893.

anti-machine man might have voted for Platt without loss of self-respect and with the feeling that he was doing a magnanimous act by forgetting past differences, but to vote for one of the Boss's weakest and most subservient tools is a humiliation from which every self-respecting anti-organization Republican must shrink and which very few of them will endure.

Victor A. Wilder, of Warwick, the "kicker" in the Orange county delegation, who, in spite of threats and entreaties, persisted in voting for Roberts, at the Saratoga convention, is believed by many to have prevented the nomination of Odell for Governor. Mr. Wilder was merely getting even. Two years ago he came to this city ready to be nominated for Congress, but Odell took the nomination himself, and although Wilder professed to be satisfied he has evidently carried a razor in his boot ever since.

Ever since the Chicago convention the Republican papers, at least once a week, have announced that the silver wave had reached its greatest height and was receding. But the wave continues to climb and the goldites who knew the real situation are becoming more and more scared every day. Mark Hanna admits that he is worried. The news that comes to him from the West is alarming and the rich men of New York, on whom he relies for campaign contributions, refuse to give of their substance because they see that the sentiment for gold is strong in New York and assume that it must be the same in all other sections.

THE FIRE PARADE.

The Line of March as Laid Out by the Engineers and Foremen.

Chief Thorpe and his assistants, Higham and Schmitt, met with the foremen of the several fire companies, last evening, and the following line of march was selected for the fall parade:

Form on Franklin Square, North to Wickham avenue, to Cottage street, to Wisner avenue, to North, to Wickham avenue, to Highland avenue and counter-march, to Liberty, to Walkill avenue, to West Main street, to James to Depot, to North and disband.

The line of march for the night parade, which will be held on the evening of the 7th, will be as follows:

Form on Franklin Square, North street to Wickham avenue, to O. and W. depot and counter-march to West Main, to East Main to East avenue, to Washington street to Academy avenue, to Benton to Sprague, to Grand to East Main, to Franklin Square and disband.

Committees were appointed as follows: Printing—Charles Higham, W. A. Marshall, W. O. Wollenhaupt. Transportation—M. J. Edwards, K. W. Staib, E. A. Lorentz.

James O'Donnell arrived in this city, Thursday, and is now at the residence of his mother, Mrs. Ann O'Donnell, No. 92 Prospect avenue. He was a former resident of this city and was employed in the saw shops, but for several years has resided in Williamsport, Pa., where he has worked at his trade.

Mr. O'Donnell's friends were surprised and pained to see him come home minus one of his legs. The number was amputated above the knee in the Williamsport hospital, some time ago, and immediately after his recovery he came here. The amputation was made necessary by a disease of the bone known as necrosis, resulting from an injury to the knee pan several years ago.

THE CENTRAL CLUB.

Articles of Incorporation Filed To-day Officers to Be Elected Monday Evening.

The articles of incorporation of the Central Club, of this city, were filed, to-day. The incorporators are Charles L. Elwood, Lanson Stevens, F. T. Smith, J. F. Tathill, Leon Simpson, E. W. Van Duzer, Frank W. Brown.

The directors named are W. F. O'Neill, F. M. Stratton, J. F. Tathill, F. W. Brown and F. T. Smith.

There are about ninety names on the roll of members, and a meeting for the purpose of organizing will be held, Monday night, in the rooms of the club on the second floor of Eagle's building on Centre street, which have been very comfortably, conveniently and attractively fitted up for the club's occupancy.

DOINGS OF LI HUNG CHANG.

Formally Received by President Cleveland—Official Courtesies Extended.

BY UNITED PRESS.

New York, Aug. 28.—Li Hung Chang rose at 6 o'clock, partook of breakfast prepared in Chinese fashion, smoked cigarettes, looked over his list of engagements and then paid a formal visit to Secretary Olney. Secretary Olney returned his formal call and at 11 o'clock Li left the hotel for ex-Secretary Whitney's house where President Cleveland, who had come from Gray Gables on the yacht Sapphire, was waiting to receive him. He wore his yellow jacket and his pig feather. Olney accompanied him and he was escorted by cavalry.

At Mr. Whitney's there were present beside the President, Harmon, Lamont and Carlisle of his Cabinet. Cleveland shook hands with and welcomed the Chinese ambassador and the latter presented the President with letters from the Emperor and in an address assured the President of the friendly sentiments of the Emperor toward the United States. He also expressed the Emperor's appreciation of the friendly assistance of America after the Chinese-Japanese war.

The President replied, expressing his pleasure with the contents of the Emperor's letter and heartily wishing that Li Hung's stay might be most pleasant. He then introduced him to the Cabinet members present. The reception lasted a half hour. Li Hung and his party then returned to their hotel.

The President will leave for Gray Gables this afternoon.

BRYAN AT HORNELLSVILLE.

Welcomed by a Tremendous Crowd—To Speak at Jamestown, To-night.

BY UNITED PRESS.

HORNELLVILLE, Aug. 29.—A tremendous crowd welcomed Bryan when he reached here at 11:40. He and his wife were taken to the house of Alderman Dolson where a reception was held.

At Africa, a crowd of several hundred people had assembled, but there was no time for speechmaking.

Bryan will speak at the fair grounds, this afternoon, and will then go to Jamestown where he will speak to-night. To-morrow they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mark, of Buffalo, at Lakewood, on Chautauque Lake.

BY UNITED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Commodore Dewey telegraphed the Secretary of the Navy from Boston, to-day, that the Brooklyn's corrected speed exceeds twenty-one miles. She therefore secures $350,000 premium exceeding her contract by one and three-quarter knots.

MEYER'S FERTILIZER FACTORY DESTROYED BY FIRE.

The Fifth Time He Has Been Burned Out in Fourteen Years.

The fertilizer factory of Henry E. Meyer, in the town of Goschen, near Denton, was totally destroyed by fire about 9 o'clock, last night.

The origin of the fire is unknown. The loss is estimated at fully $2,000, on which there is $500 of insurance through Case & Taylor.

The business was carried on by Wm. Garbrandt, who owned the stock and machinery, valued at about $1,250, on which there was no insurance. Mr. Meyer owned the building which was worth $750.

The factory will be rebuilt at once and the business resumed as soon as possible.

This is the fifth time in fourteen years that Mr. Meyer has been burned out.

In 1882 this factory was burned in Goschen and he lost $4,500, having no insurance; eight years ago his farm buildings were badly damaged in Bloomington, when he had no insurance; two years ago his barn was burned near this city and the loss was not nearly covered; last October his factory in Paterson, was destroyed, the loss being over $7,000, on which there was no insurance.

There is little doubt but the fires, most of them at least, were of incendiary origin.

"BAD MAN" KELLY USES HIS KNIFE

Ejected From the Commercial Hotel. Last Night, He Returns and Stabs Bartender John Cunningham—The Wound Not Serious, But Might Easily Have Been Fatal—Two Young Men Have Their Hands Cut in Trying to Disarm Kelly—Held for the Grand Jury.

John Cunningham, clerk at the Commercial Hotel, was quite seriously injured, last night, by a knife wound inflicted by James Kelly, an employee of the saw works.

Kelly and a friend, George Doty, entered the Commercial barroom, about 11 o'clock, considerably under the influence of liquor. They made themselves very obnoxious to several gentlemen standing at the bar by interfering in their conversation and insisting upon an argument.

Mr. Cunningham requested them to desist and they did for a time, but in a few minutes they renewed the annoyance and finally Kelly called one of the gentlemen a liar, and drawing a pocket knife, jumped to the center of the floor, and threatened to cut any one who dared to go near him.

Cunningham walked up to Kelly and persuaded him to put the knife away and go out. Just as they reached the front door Kelly bolted and refused to go any further, whereupon Cunningham took him by the collar of the coat and forced him out, his friend Doty following.

When Cunningham returned to the barroom he took a position at the end of the bar, where he stood talking over the affair with the gentlemen who remained. In a few minutes the swinging doors flew open and Kelly rushed in. He ran directly to Cunningham and struck him a blow in the body with the knife.

Cunningham did not realize that he was cut at first, but "sailed" into his booth. Several of the bystanders saw the gleam of the blade and rushed at Kelly. Two young men, Frank Curran and Dan Dugan, had their fingers cut in their efforts to take the knife away. William French, a boarder at the hotel, struck Kelly a blow that knocked him down, and in less time than it takes to tell it, he was thrown into the street.

It was then discovered that Cunningham had been stabbed and Dr. Mills was summoned. The knife had been forced through apron and vest and entered the body on the left side several inches below the heart. Mr. Cunningham is quite fleshy and but for that fact the wound would have probably been fatal. As it is Dr. Mills is unable as yet to determine whether the knife penetrated the peritoneum, but says that Cunningham's description of his sensations leads him to fear that this may be the case, in which event there is danger of peritonitis and a possibility of very serious consequences.

A search was made for Kelly, but he had disappeared. The police were informed of the affair, and about 4 o'clock Officer Walsh found him at the corner of Grant street and Sprague avenue, on his way to his home, No. 51 Sprague avenue. He was placed in the lockup and arraigned before the Re-order, this morning. Through his counsel, Alton J. Vail, Esq., he pleaded not guilty to the charge of assault in the first degree. He waived examination and was committed to Goshen Jail to await the action of the Grand Jury.

His counsel will make application to Judge Beattie to release his client on bail. Dr. Mills would not permit Cunningham to attend court, this morning, and the Re-order went to the hotel, where Cunningham signed the complaint.

Kelly presented a sorry looking appearance, this morning. There is a cut on his forehead, where his head came in contact with the brass door catch, and his eyes were both black and swollen. His nose was also bruised and swollen. He was evidently severely handled after his assault upon Cunningham.

Kelly gained considerable notoriety a few months ago at the North End, where he was obliged to take rapid and unceremonious leave from a dwelling to escape the wrath of an irate husband upon whose wife Kelly had been calling during his absence. The home was broken up, and the husband afterwards committed suicide after a day's vain search for Kelly, whom he threatened to shoot on sight.

The Hudson River Telephone Company's Rondout Valley Line.

The Hudson River Telephone Company made a test, Thursday, of its new line from Rondout to Accord. It worked perfectly and a connection was finally made with Philadelphia, and the ticking of a watch held in front of the phone at Accord was plainly heard in the City of Brotherly Love. It is the intention of the company to extend the circuit to Kerhonkson and Ellenville and through to this city.

A BRYAN AND SEWALL BANNER

Proudly Floating on James Street in Front of the Times Office.

A large American flag bearing the names of Bryan and Sewall was suspended across James street, this morning. There was no demonstration, that will come later.

The wire from which the banner hangs extends from the Casino building to the hose tower on Centre street and it so happens that the banner floats directly in front of the office of the Evening Times. Of course this is a mere coincidence,—there could not possibly have been any purpose on the part of Mr. Corey or any one else to make it seem to those who are ignorant of the Times' waywardness in politics that it is supporting the people's candidates and battling for the people's cause.

OBITUARY.

Philip Kisel.

From Our Mount Hope Correspondent.
Philip Kisel, aged 73 years, died at his home in Mount Hope, on Friday afternoon, after a long and painful illness. He was a member of the Grand Army Post, of Goshen. He was a private of Co. I, New Jersey Cavalry, in which he served three years. He also served his native country, Germany, as a soldier for twelve years. He came to this country in 1855 and resided in Goshen for many years.

He leaves a widow and one son who reside at Mount Hope. His remains will be taken to Goshen, on Monday, for interment and the funeral will be under the direction of the G. A. R. of that place.

His bereaved family have the sympathy of the community.

Arrested on a Charge of Stealing a Horse.

Edward White, of Greenville, was arrested, yesterday, on complaint of James S. Clark, also of Greenville, charged with stealing a horse at Tri-States, on Wednesday evening. He was arraigned before Justice McCormick, in Port Jervis, yesterday, and waived examination, furnishing $500 bail for his appearance before the Grand Jury.

White claims to have come in possession of the horse by a deal with Clark.

Middletown vs. Ellenville Typo.

The Ellenville and Middletown printers will play a game of ball on the State Hospital grounds, at 4 o'clock, this afternoon.

The Ellenville printers came over this morning and have been doing the town, to-day. They are: B. M. Taylor, Lester Warren, Will Warren, W. A. Heath, L. Booth, Irving McNally, Jacob Wecht, DuBois Collins, Irving Warren and Nicholas Zupp.

A Pleasant Social Event.

Miss Sadie Grover gave a whist party, last night, in honor of her guest, Miss Horlein, of Utica. About thirty-five of her friends were present, and the evening was pleasantly spent by all. The prizes, a ladies' belt with sterling silver buckle and a silver nail file, were won by Miss Genevieve Still and Mr. Jones, of Utica. Elegant refreshments were served, and it was a late hour when the guests reluctantly dispersed.

An Enjoyable Occasion.

Mrs. C. A. Trumper, President of Woman's Relief Corps, No. 154, Auxiliary to Rankin Post, No. 10, of Brooklyn, remained over from the Tenth Legion reunion to attend the meeting of Gen. Lyon W. R. C. No. 180, which was held Thursday evening. She rendered a very fine recitation on Abraham Lincoln, which was very much enjoyed by the corps.

INCIDENTS AND HAPPENINGS IN GOSHEN.

Calling on Friends—Building a Barn—Settled Out of Court—The Combination Sale—Camp Meeting Postponed.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

—Edward Tathill, a former well known Goshen young man, was calling on friends, yesterday. He is now employed by the Adams Express Company, at Buffalo.

—John Donnelly has commenced the erection of a brick barn for B. Van Steenburgh.

—The suit of Romo Kowolik against John Gaili, of Portlandville, for a claim of $200 was settled out of court by the defendant paying $182 and costs.

—There is a large attendance at the combination horse sale on the Driving Park, this afternoon.

—On account of the funeral of Miss Lizzie Dimond, a faithful member of the A. C. M. P. Church, of this village, which will take place from the church, to-morrow, at 2:30, the camp meeting, which the church was to have held at North Side Park, Middletown, to-morrow, has been postponed.

SPECIAL EXCURSION TO WALTON

On Account of the Opening of the 32d Company's Armory Sept. 3d.

On account of the opening of the armory of the 32d Separate Co., of Walton, Sept. 3d, the Ontario and Western will run a special train, leaving Wickham avenue at 7 a. m. and arriving at Walton at 10 a. m. Returning the train will leave Walton at 12 o'clock, midnight, giving ample time to attend the grand ball in the armory. "Our Boys," the 24th Separate Co., together with separate companies from Utica, Binghamton, Albany and other points will be in the line of march. For further information apply to ticket agents at stations.

HAS GOOD TOUGH BONES.

Ran Over by a Heavily Loaded Wagon and Only Bruised.

Ed. Shafer, of Pine Bush, while drawing lumber to the depot, Thursday, was thrown from the wagon by the horses turning too short at the corner in front of Howell's store and fell in front of the wheels, which passed over both legs between the knee and ankle.

There was a heavy load of lumber on the wagon, and all who saw the accident supposed the man's legs had been crushed, but the bones were not fractured. His legs were badly bruised, however, and he is now going about on crutches.

Won His First Case.

William J. Burke, who was recently admitted to the bar, tried his first case, Thursday, and won it in fine style. It was in Justice Ketcham's court in Mount Hope and he was retained to defend a man charged with assault and battery. He marshaled his evidence so cleverly and presented it so clearly that, although one of Middletown's best and most experienced lawyers was opposed to him, he got his client off "scot free."

A Weighing Machine Broken Open and Robbed.

The weighing machine on the Madison House piazza was broken open, last night, with a coupling pin, and whatever money it contained was stolen. Although a clerk was on duty in the hotel all night, he heard nothing and the theft was not discovered until this morning.

The bag in which the money dropped into the machine was caught, was found this morning in H. Armstrong's corral at Howells and turned over to Agent Mapes, of Howells, who brought it to this city. The number on the bag was the same as that on the machine. The owners of the machine find satisfaction in the fact that the thief got but a few pennies for his trouble.

RUINED BY TREES.

A Graveyard That Was Overrun by Locusts.

The Place Became So Choked Up by the Rank Growth That There Was No Room for Living or Dead.

In 1788, when the old revolutionary sailors living on the New Worcester plantation, across the Penobscot from Bangor, wanted to get the place incorporated and applied for a charter, they intended to call the town Orrington, in honor of Orangetown, Md., but the early education of the man who drew up the petition had been so badly neglected that when he wrote the document he spelled the word Orrington, and in this manner was a good town name born from very poor orthography. During the 108 years which have passed since then the people have made very few blunders. They not only know what they want, but they go to it with a get-there impetuosity which generally wins success.

In fact, some citizens of Orrington can be truthfully charged with having too much zeal. One resident—a woman, bearing the name of Baker—has made herself famous for all time by a little act of thoughtful kindness that would never have been noticed had it been done in most towns. Mrs. Baker, though she lived and died years before Secretary Morton was known, was a firm believer in Arbor day. She set out such native trees as she could find growing on the hills, and sent away to friends and got several varieties that had lately come over from Europe.

One spring morning in the fourth decade of the present century, a coaster came in from Boston, having a few trees on board billed to Mrs. Baker. Among them was a rare species known as the honey locust. The agent who sold it to her praised it very highly, saying it had large racemes of fragrant white flowers and beautiful pendulous foliage, making it a most suitable ornament for a cemetery. In addition to these qualities, it was thrifty and perfectly hardy, and could be either grown as a hedge or trimmed to a single trunk.

Following the printed instructions, which came with every tree, she planted her honey locust in the family lot in the old Chapin cemetery on the road from Orrington Center to Orrington. No tree ever kept its contract more perfectly than that honey locust. It waxed big and strong in the dry, gravelly soil, and raised up many offspring, all of which grew wonderfully. Fifteen years later, when Mrs. Baker laid down the cares of life, she was put to rest in a beautiful grove of her own planting. Around her grave the wild cypress grew in rank yellow profusion. Above it the red cinnabar rose bloomed all through the summer months, and over these the rare honey locusts swayed their fragrant blossoms, until every daffodil wind stole away deeply laden with sweetness. Surely, if there were ever a place where death was robbed of its terrors, this was the spot.

New tenants came to the little four-acre cemetery as the years went on. The Harrimans, noted for their strength; the Chapins, famous in finance; the Bakers, with their handsome children, and several other good people, having finished their work, were laid away for a long, sweet rest among the flowers.

The people died, but the honey locusts lived. They not only lived, but took such a joy in living that by 1850 the sexton complained bitterly about the tough roots of the locust trees which he was forced to cut off in order to dig a new grave. In former years, with a spade and a pickaxe, he could dig a good grave in about four hours. Now he had to take an ax and a crowbar plow, and when he had dug a grave he found the whole day was used up. Several owners of burial plots that were inclosed with expensive fences, as well as those who had erected stones or monuments, complained about the prevalence of locust trees, saying the tangled growth concealed the graves. The lots were thickets of brushwood, and even the cemetery paths grew up so that men had to swamp new roads whenever a body was interred on the further side of the enclosure.

About the time the war closed the residents woke up to the fact that their beautiful cemetery had been transformed into a wilderness, filled with brambles and noxious thorns. Some made onslaughts upon the trees, clearing individual lots here and there, which at once grew up to young locust trees from roots on the unreclaimed lots. Meetings of lot owners were held, but no definite plan of action was adopted. Meanwhile the locusts grew and entrance to the cemetery became more difficult every year. Shortly after it was learned that the locusts could not be eradicated the survivors began to take up their dead and move them to other cemeteries. Some went to Mill Creek, others to Orrington village, and still others to the hillside yard at Snow's corner. Before 1870 nearly everybody was up and away. Then the town voted to pay for the removal of those whose friends had all died or moved away, and the grave diggers went all over the place.

The work was done well, much better than the average of such jobs. Still it is said that some five or six bodies were never found. The rank trees grew so rapidly and were such greedy feeders that the ashes of the dead were taken up to form wood and blossoms. Chapin cemetery has been abandoned for more than 20 years. The locusts are 40 feet high and stand as thickly as troops in review. They so thoroughly occupy the lands that there is no room for the living or the dead.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

"DR. MILES,
Through His Nerve Is a Benefactor to Thousands."

A WIDELY known Wisconsin publisher, who resides at Green Bay, writes March 6th, 1895, as follows:

"Five years ago I became so nervous that mental work was a burden. I could not rest at night on account of sleeplessness. My attention was called to Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve, and I commenced to use it with the very best effect. Since then I have kept a bottle in my house and use it whenever my nerves become unstrung, with always the same good result. My son also takes it for nervousness with like never failing success. I have recommended it to many and it cures them. All who suffer from nerve troubles should try it. It is free from narcotics, perfectly harmless, and yet soothes and strengthens. Dr. Miles, through his Nerve is a benefactor to thousands."

MISS BARTON HONORED.

She Has Just Been Decorated with the Order of Melusine.

Miss Clara Barton, who has recently been engaged in work among the Armenians in the interest of the Red Cross society, has just been decorated with the order of Melusine. This order of knighthood was conferred upon her by His Royal Highness Guy de Lusignan, prince of Jerusalem, Cyprus and Armenia.

This is not the first time that Miss Barton has received such a distinction. For her services during the Franco-Prussian war she was decorated by both the emperor of Germany and the grand duke of Baden.

The order of Melusine was instituted in 1186 by Queen Sibylla, wife of JEWEL OF THE MELUSINE ORDER.

King Guy of Jerusalem. The decoration is given to those who assist in any way the Armenian nation, or to those who have distinguished themselves in science, letters or the arts.

The jewel of the order consists of the cross of Jerusalem in blue enamel. Between the four points of the cross are four smaller crosses in silver, while in the center are the arms of the royal house of Lusignan.

The jewel is surmounted by a silver crown, and is worn upon the left breast, suspended from a blue ribbon with white borders.

Prince Guy de Lusignan, the giver of the decoration, is also the hereditary prince of Jerusalem, Cyprus and Armenia, being descended from the last kings of these countries. One of his ancestors, also named Guy, became king of Jerusalem and Armenia in 1186 by his marriage with Sibylla, the daughter of the former king.

This Sibylla was the one who founded the order of Melusine. In 1187 King Guy was defeated in the battle of Tiberias, and several years later retired to the island of Cyprus, where he reigned for two years. His descendants ruled the island for nearly 300 years, when it was sold to the Republic of Venice by Catherine Cornaro. From that time on the Lusignians have been scattered throughout the east.

Prince Guy, the present head of the royal house of Lusignan, was born in Constantinople in 1834, and received his education in Venice and Paris. The prince was for some years at the head of the Armenian schools in Paris, but he resigned to devote more of his time to the study of oriental languages, about which he has given much valuable information to the scientific world.

His wife was Princess Mariade Goupil, who died five years ago. His brother, the late Prince Khorene, was the head of the Armenian church, and was one of the representatives of the Berlin conference of 1878.

REX AND HIS TEETH.

Probably the Only Dog That Ever Sat in a Dentist's Chair.

Rex is a full-blooded setter who belongs to Dr. F. S. Van Nostrand, a New York dentist. A few days ago the doctor noticed that Rex had several teeth which required attention.

For three days Rex was subjected to a course of training in the chair. A towel, rolled up, was drawn between his jaws, and the dentist put his shining instruments into the setter's mouth until he became accustomed to them. When his master was satisfied that Rex had been trained enough, he placed him in the chair and with another dentist to help him began his work.

The assistant held the towel in the dog's mouth with one hand, and held his paws in the other. Rex was docile and quiet, even when the gouging burr was buzzing around in a tooth. Once the instrument struck a nerve, but Rex merely winced. The cavities were filled with unalloyed gold, and to-day Rex probably is the only dog that has ever sat in a dentist's chair and had his teeth filled.

It is not generally known why gold is used for filling teeth. The reason is that gold can be welded into a solid mass while cold. It also can be pressed and forced into the smallest cavity and depression. When the cavity is properly cleaned out, and the gold put in so that it fills every bit of space, the union of the tooth and gold filling is as nearly perfect as is possible without the action of heat. None of the acid secretions of the mouth or stomach has any effect on the gold.

DANIELS & MOULE, Eye Specialists.

Have had four months of success, much more than was expected for the first two months. What is the cause of our increase in business? Why the people reduce us as HEADQUARTERS, and that all our dealings are upright and honest, and for that reason they patronize us, which is to thank those who have already placed confidence in us and hope to share more patronage by using all our patients who deal with us honestly. Our Examination is FREE and Prices are Very Low.

The eye should be properly fitted and treated, as it is the most important part of our person. Without your eyesight you can do nothing. So it is for your own advantage that you go where you have your eyes properly treated. This is the place, as we do nothing but treat the eye, so we are Headquarters. You are always welcome.
